Why your membership matters

LEAD San Diego's overarching objective is to provide information and opportunities of significant regional importance. By meeting the needs of busy opinion leaders like you, we believe that the greater San Diego region can realize a powerful network of connected and able community leaders who are prepared to impact our major quality of life challenges.

Our region can't do it without you!

How LEAD San Diego makes a difference

We advance the prosperity of the greater San Diego region through a growing network of connected, knowledgeable, able and active community leaders like you. Together, we accomplish this by:

Strengthening our region's leaders through cutting-edge skills development and issues-based orientation for a variety of targeted audiences, including community leaders, business executives, public officials, educators and emerging leaders;

Engaging the community by examining and discussing regional issues and trends in a variety of venues to increase community learning and both build and enhance the network of attentive citizens and community leaders;

Taking action by promoting region-wide problem solving, facilitation and collaboration to inform policy-making processes and execute community initiatives.
